Annual 47 C.F.R. § 64.2009(e) CPNI Certification Accompanying Statement

The Company is a switchless reseller of domestic and international long distance services. The Company is a sovereign, unaffiliated entity that utilizes CPNI for the sole and licit purpose of providing the aforesaid services to its customers.

The Company maintains all CPNI in a secure, encrypted database which may only be accessed by obtaining a unique username and password, issued and maintained by the Company. Said access is limited to those agents of the Company which require such during the ordinary course and scope of performing duties on behalf of the Company.

Prior to any discussion or dissemination of any particular CPNI to any respective, putative customer of the Company, the Company first ascertains the veracity of the customer's identity vis-à-vis a combination of procedural safeguards, to wit Caller Identification inbound ANI matching, verification of select personal information by the customer and verification of a personal identification code.

By virtue of the above-mentioned procedures, the Company has effectively complied with the Commission's rules by ensuring that CPNI is securely maintained while contemporaneously remaining accessible to only those agents and customers of the Company with a legitimate right to same. The fact that the Company has not received any customer complaints in the past year concerning the unauthorized release of CPNI serves as a buttress to this contention.
